WOMEN'S WEARERS

NEGLIGE OF BORDERED CREPE.

Of soft cream crepe, with a border design in dresden tones, was this dainty matinee. The garment itself was accented by a shaped yoke of lace. A tiny pointed vest of lace was crossed by folds of rose satin ribbon. The principal beauty of the little sack was the sleeve, consisting of lace points, which, joining over the bare arm, were held in place by tiny bows of the ribbon, these latter being connected by ends of the same. The effect of this was extremely dainty and charming.

RENOVATE FADED SUMMER CLOTHES FOR THE VACATION

Careful Washing and Ironing, Pressing, Sponging and Dyeing Are Necessary.

Women who are compelled to take vacations at the end of the summer season usually find their wardrobes faded or shabby, for, naturally, summer fabrics do not stand the strong sun or the average wear and tear as do heavier fabrics, and so they must be renovated to appear fresh and trim for the holidays.

Despite these drawbacks, the late vacationist certainly has one advantage over those who go to the country, seashore, etc., earlier in the season, for the former can avail herself of the marked-down sales that prevail after the national holiday. Dresses, suits, millinery and accessories are all reduced and often to a price representing about half their original cost.

Even with such bargains possible, some women are so situated that the only money available is that necessary to provide for the outing, so a new wardrobe is out of the question. In such a case, a little ingenuity and much patience will be required to make the old frocks, etc., dainty and presentable.

In a freshening the chief item will be the laundry work, for all garments washable must be clean looking.

As every one knows, garments that are thoroughly well laundered look clean much longer than those poorly laundered. At the same time, to send every piece to the laundry means no small expense.

With a suit or a heavy white skirt better results will be obtained by sending them to a laundry. The same rules will apply to tailored shirt waists and linen collars.

Lingerie and plain lawn waists, also washable, may be done satisfactorily at home if the laundry is willing to be patient.

A pretty organdy, dimity, or even a linen frock, may also be safely attempted by the home laundress, thus reducing the wash bills. Directions for washing lingerie are already given in a recent issue of this paper.

If there is a waist of soft silk in a dainty color that needs cleansing it may be laid in a bath of warm soap suds (using white soap) for a few minutes. If the garment is washed for the first time and the color is either pink, blue or lavender, sugar of lead should be used to set the color. Five cents' worth of this chemical dissolved in a pint of water is about the right proportion. The length of time necessary to fix the color will be from twenty to thirty minutes.

The articles are then put into the bath, and after soaking are squeezed through the hands and rolled in a clean towel until almost dry, then pressed with a warm iron on the wrong side.

The tailored suit or cloth skirt should be gone over carefully, looking for stains or soil, and when spots are found they should be thoroughly rubbed with benzine or ammonia and water.

If a piece of wet cloth is laid over the stain and a very hot iron is placed upon it, the two cloths will adhere to each other. When the top piece is removed the nap rises with it, so that the stain, if not quite obliterated, is at least invisible.

Almost every garment may be improved by a good pressing, no matter what the fabric is, so that before deciding upon washing any article in turpentine will be the same for a black cloth skirt. Do most of the renovating in the open air.

Sponge ribbons with gasoline, and if much soiled use a little white soap, keeping away from the fire during the process. Veils may be cleaned (if not washable) by putting through.

Ribbons that are only creased should be lightly sponged with water, then placed between two clean cloths and pressed.

Ribbons on hats can be freshened by carefully sponging the loops and then filling them with soft paper to preserve the shape.

For the adoption of a gasoline bath, the color to faded stockings or tint a cheap white pair to any shade preferred.

The many preparations for coloring faded straw hats that come at such a small price will be a boon to the economical girl, while the use of a gasoline bath will restore them to newness.

TO BEAUTIFY SCHOOL YARDS

ARCHITECT ASHFORD MAKES SOME ARTISTIC ALLUSIONS.

Recommends That Hose Be Furnished Janitors to Keep Lawns and Parkings Attractive.

Attractive school yards are desired by the new municipal architect, Snowden Ashford. To that end he has recommended that the board of education furnish hose to the janitors of the school buildings so that the lawns and parkings in front of the school buildings can be kept attractive. The suggestion will be forwarded to the board of education for action.

"I have the honor to report that the terraces and parkings at the Business High School, Armstrong Manual Training School and the Bryant School have been improved and sodded or seeded," says Municipal Architect Ashford in his report. "I have also planted a hedge at the Bryant School to take the place of a fence."

"I noticed in the last few days at these buildings that the grass and hedges were very much in need of water, and the parkings were almost in as bad condition as prior to the improvement. I would respectfully suggest that the school board be requested to furnish hose to the janitors, with instructions to keep the grounds properly watered."

Ash Vaults Unclean.

"I also noticed at the Ketcham and other schools that the ash vaults had not been cleaned out since school closed last month. At the Ketcham school some decayed matter had been deposited in the ash vault and the odor permeated the whole building."

"I am informed that the contractor will not remove the ashes and other refuse from these vaults unless it constitutes a full load. I would respectfully suggest that the school board make provision for periodically cleaning these ash vaults, regardless of the amount of material hauled, or that the contract be made on the basis of a cubic yard or portion thereof."

Work of Lighthouse Service Vessels.

The lighthouse service steamer Violet sailed yesterday from Portsmouth, Va., for service in the North Carolina sounds. The Violet sailed from Baltimore about six weeks ago bound for North Carolina waters. While lying at Portsmouth taking on supplies the naval cutter Brutus ran into the vessel, badly damaging her. Since that time she has been at the Norfolk navy yard undergoing repairs.

The lighthouse tender Maple is at Portsmouth taking on supplies and fuel for delivery to the lightships on the Diamond Shoal and Point Lookout stations on the North Carolina coast. While in vicinity of the ships Capt. Almy will verify buoyage.

The tender Holly, Capt. Miles, is also at the Portsmouth station of the light-house service and will sail today on duty in the southern portion of the fifth light-house district.

ROCKVILLE.

Special Correspondence of The Star.

ROCKVILLE, Md., July 21, 1909.

A four days' fair, under the auspices of the Rockville Masonic Fair Association, began at the fair grounds here today. The features of the opening day are a clay-pigeon shoot, in which a large number of crack shots are entered, and a base ball game between the Rockville and Gaithersburg teams. Tomorrow a riding tournament will be held, and it is expected to be one of the biggest affairs of the kind ever held in the county.

Those who have signified their intention of competing include many of the best riders in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia, and excellent sport is looked for. Harry T. Newcomb and Senator Blair Lee, rival candidates for the democratic nomination for the state senate, will deliver the charge to the knights and the coronation address, respectively. There will also be a ball game tomorrow between the Rockville and Gaithersburg teams, and the clay-pigeon shoot will be continued.

The attractions for the other days include base ball, a mule race, a Marathon race, today, and various other features. The fair is given to raise funds for the erection of a Masonic temple at Rockville.

The Montgomery County Social Service League, recently organized here to fight tuberculosis, has not given up its fight for the establishment of a sanatorium on the almshouse farm, about a mile from Rockville, for the treatment and care of indigent persons suffering from the disease. Several weeks ago the trustees of the almshouse granted permission for the establishment of a sanatorium on the county farm, but a vigorous protest from nearby property owners had the effect of making the trustees rescind their action. The league took the matter up with the county commissioners, but that board decided that it was without authority to override the action of the almshouse trustees. The league now proposes to make another effort to prevail upon the trustees, and to that end has named a committee to wait upon them within the near future.

The county public school commissioners have decided to give the league a place on the program for the annual teachers' institute, to be held here the week of September 6, for an address on tuberculosis.

The farm of the late Robert D. Isherwood, near Washington Grove, has been sold to Dr. J. M. Hall of Glens Falls, N. Y., for $12,500. The tract contains 363 acres. It is understood to be the purchaser's intention to convert the place into an up-to-date farm and make it his permanent home.

The Modern Figure

How to Regain Beauty of Form.

The vagaries of Fashion are a great trial to ladies inclined to overeatness; but it is a great mistake to go in for physical repression in the shape of special diets. Fasting and violent exercises are also dangerous. One very soon becomes limp, depressed and sallow of complexion when such methods of getting thin are adopted. There is absolutely no necessity to study dietetics or deprive one's self of wholesome rest and bodily comforts.
